

Seek ban on drug abuse aids

By GEORGEANN MCGEE
of the Press-Record

A volunteer drug counselor — armed with St. Charles, Mo., ordinance and a worn paper bag — introduced himself to Alderman Paul Fisk last Tuesday and obtained permission to speak to the Granite City Council about a portion of the drug industry he thinks is setting its sights on a fairly young consumer group.

Reaching into his paper bag, Gregory Thomas, chairman of the Edwardsville Marijuana Education Committee, pulled out a water pipe, marijuana cigarette "roach clip," and metal bowl pipe as examples of the kinds of drug equipment he believes is getting ready to be packaged for the 6 through 18 age group.

The St. Charles, Mo., law Thomas is "pushing" for Granite City prohibits the sale of "drug accessories" in that Missouri town. He would like to see the same law in Granite City to further strength a similar ordinance here already on the books.

State's Attorney Don Weber, who is conducting his own county-wide youth drug investigation, joined Thomas in encouraging strict drug paraphernalia laws Thursday, when both appeared before the Madison County Legislative Committee.

Thomas said the ordinance he is proposing in his hometown of Glen Carbon and in Edwardsville, Granite City and other municipalities may eventually be incorporated in a county-wide bill Weber has been asked to prepare for the county.

Weber said Friday he is in the process of fashioning a bill aimed at the seller, not individual owner, of drug abuse equipment.

Weber said he is unaware of any other country that tolerates the sale of such items and sees no reason to tolerate the sales of drug paraphernalia here. "There have to be some limits," Weber said.

The state's attorney said his primary model for a drug equipment law will be state Senate Bill 1305, which he plans to modify before presenting to the county legislative committee in a few weeks. The bill was passed Wednesday by the Illinois Senate Judiciary Committee and will next be sent to the full Senate for consideration.

He said a portion of the bill calls for fines of $1,000 per item, which he may lessen to a similar county ordinance. Thomas, meanwhile, said he feels he can not wait for county action in his campaign to eliminate and industry he thinks has now placed its sights on the 6 to 16 age market.

"I can't wait for that (state or county), so I'm going to keep going to municipalities, go to the local levels...if the county comes up with something that's fine," Thomas said.

Granite City currently has an ordinance in effect which closely monitors but does not prevent paraphernalia sales. Sellers are required to buy a $150 permit. In addition, anyone purchasing drug equipment must sign a book stores are required to keep and make available to the police department.

According to Thomas, who approached the Granite City Council last Tuesday, paraphernalia marketers are aiming for a youthful audience.

He called some paraphernalia displays "very attractive, really," and alluring to teenagers.

"I think (the Madison County) grand jury brought to your attention, the very real and present problem our youth are facing," Thomas told aldermen.

Thomas said he became involved in the drug problem as a result of his volunteer work at AID, Inc. of Collinsville, a non-profit drug abuse prevention program, intended for youth caught in the trap of drug and alcohol abuse.

His fight to take drug equipment from the shelves of local stores seems to him a natural extension of the work he was doing as a volunteer at AID.

The Granite City Council last week approved a motion to refer the proposal to its ordinance committee.

GC law obeyed, seller contends

The only store now selling drug paraphernalia under the new city restrictions, Co-Op Tapes and Records, 3675 Namecki Road, is following the city's restrictions, according to Manager Rick Bay.

Bay calls himself a licensed paraphernalia seller who strictly abides by the Granite City drug equipment law and said he does not sell to anyone under the age of 18.

Bay said that, when specific drug-related items are sold, he requires the purchaser to produce identification as proof of age. He said a store representative then enters the required information into the drug equipment purchaser log. Log entries include name, age and address of the purchaser, as well as the date and type of sale.

"I do get a lot of people who refuse to buy an item...but less than half," Bay said of the impact the log portion of the paraphernalia law.

"I've got a pretty full log book," he said.

Co-Op at first pulled its drug paraphernalia items from its shelves for about a year after the city passed the paraphernalia ordinance. Prior to the law, Bay had been selling pipes, roach clips and "snuff" items for about three or four years.

The manager said revenue and photograph record sales to the store were "definitely hurt" with the withdrawal of the items. Bay contended that the drug paraphernalia items represent a high-profit market.

Nevertheless, he continued to keep the items from the shelf, but when sales were still low just before the Christmas season, the drug paraphernalia items were brought back.

Since last December, according to Bay, no inspection of the purchaser log has been made.

Co-op's purchasers of the drug paraphernalia items are primarily in the 18 to 24 age group, said Bay, which also comprises the majority of his record sales.

His best selling drug-related items are "32, 33 and 34 small pipes."

Overfest' May 26

Memorial Day "Overfest '82" organizers are working on plans to bring music, fireworks, and other fun and, perhaps, even a traditional drum and life corps to Granite City this month.

The first Overfest, held last year, marked the official opening of the 19th Street Overpass. Despite inclement weather, many residents said they enjoyed the event and would like to see it become an annual event.

Thus, this year's Overfest festivities, including carnival rides, are scheduled May 26 to 31 and will not only give residents a chance to celebrate and merchants an opportunity to display their wares, but should give the newly-incorporated "Granite City Center" a financial boost.

The center, in coordination with the Mayor's Office, is sponsoring the event and Mayor Paul Schuler has designated this year's festival to help the non-profit organization's downtown revitalization efforts. Center staff member Joseph Parente said that with the center's new incorporation status, "the group is ready to start moving."

The theme of this year's Overfest, emphasizing the wide variety of ethnic and traditional food available here, is "The Taste of Granite City." Festival goers will be able to choose from varied menus offered by local ethnic and fraternal organizations.

Parente said that groups interested in having booths or stands during the festival may contact him at the mayor's office, 492-4215. Applications and other information may be obtained at that office in the city hall. Parente has set a deadline of May 21 for notifying the city of intent to have a booth or stand.

A nightly lineup of entertainment will not be confirmed until next week, but entertainment coordinator John Fornasewski has ambitious plans. Each day of the festival is tentatively set to carry a certain musical flavor of

Allege Legion gambling

Four persons were arrested on charges related to gambling after a raid on the Tri-City American Legion Post 113 hall, 1622 State St., was conducted at 11 p.m. Thursday by investigators from the Madison County state's attorney's office and Granite City police officers.

The action culminated an investigation of several weeks by state's attorney's investigators and local police into allegations of payoffs being made on various electronic game machines at the veterans' service club, it was learned.

Booked at police headquarters were Lloyd W. Summers, 35, of 6149 Old Alton Road, and Helen P. Stepp, 33, of Cahokia, both charged with gambling; and Don M. Padgett, 36, of 9164 Carlson Ave., and Barbara L. Bradshaw, 22, of 1304 Kirkpatrick Homes, both charged with keeping a place of gambling.

Padgett and Mrs. Bradshaw are employees in the Legion bar, officers alleged.

Those taking part in the raid met no opposition in gaining access to the building, it was learned. A search warrant had been issued by Circuit Judge George J. Moran Jr. on an official complaint signed by Mike Collier, an investigator for the Madison County state's attorney's office.

Collier and Assistant State's Attorney Tom Long accompanied the officers Thursday night.

Granite City Police Chief Ronald J. Veizer said Friday that the owners of the machines also may be liable for charges.

The electronic machines were confiscated, placed overnight at police headquarters here and transferred at 1:30 p.m. Friday to Edwardsville by Madison County sheriff's deputies.

Summers, Padgett, Mrs. Bradshaw and the three were released after each posted a $102 cash bond.

Seek to resolve Girl Scout Council dispute

Efforts to resolve heated differences among volunteers and officers of the River Bluffs Girl Scout Council are expected to be made during a special meeting between the council's building committee and volunteers at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow in the council's office.

The meeting comes in the wake of a wave of protest over the site of a new headquarters under construction for the River Bluffs Girl Scout Council in the Ginger Creek area, believed to have been responsible for the surprising overturning of nominated candidates for president and a vice-president of the Girl Scout Council's board last Wednesday.

Jim Cavataio of Belleville, finance committee member for the board and an active leader in the task force which recommended building the new headquarters, was defeated by a more than two-to-one vote last week by Mrs. Marty Nelson of Godfrey, who was nominated from the floor to oppose Cavataio. Cavataio was the candidate selected by the nominating committee.

In what sources said was a heated meeting, three of four persons nominated from the floor were elected in what some volunteers felt was a reaction to the selection of the controversial building site. Also elected from a floor nomination was JoAnne Lenz of Alton as vice-president of community relations, defeating slated Patricia Bartsokas of Belleville on a vote of 89 to 50.

A write-in candidate, Terry Lee Hoffmann of Smithton, defeated Dorothy Farrar, the slated candidate, to earn a seat on the nominating committee. Mrs. Farrar finished fourth in a race for three seats on the committee. Others elected were Julie Matosian of Granite City and Mary Agnes Kammann.

The Press-Record has received several protest letters to the Forum from Girl Scout volunteers who object to the selection of the exclusive Ginger Creek area for construction of the $25,000 service center building, rather than a site in Edwardsville which had been donated to the council.

The task force, headed by Cavataio, recommended constructing the new service center immediately in Ginger Creek for several reasons. The current center could not be expanded enough to meet the needs of the council, Ginger Creek is a planned development and will increase in value and construction material costs were believed about to rise, it was explained.

Opponents noted that land was donated free to the council to build the new center and the council should not have purchased land in Ginger Creek. Those favoring the Ginger Creek site note that the donated land is free of strings and can be sold to help finance the construction.

Some volunteers also question whether money should be spent to build a new service center or should be devoted to improving the district's camping facilities.

Donna Lowery, council executive director, noted that only the board can stop construction of the building and she predicted that will not happen. She said the camps are in good condition, having received approximately a half-

The subject is jobs

By JUDY TAPLIN

In the next six weeks, a decision is going to be made which could greatly affect the economic health of the metro-east region.

The subject is jobs. The decision will be whether or not it is feasible to create a non-profit areawide Business Development Financial Corporation in the seven Southern Illinois counties of Madison, St. Clair, Monroe, Randolph, Bond, Clinton and Washington.

The determining factor will be the response from the communities, financial institutions and other firms which would have membership in the corporation. The corporation would be designed to help meet the capital requirements of existing and prospective small businesses, and to help manufacturers and businesses with expansion plans.

Almost any legitimate business would be eligible to apply for help. The immediate potential is for creation of more than 500 new jobs, according to a limited survey in the seven-county area.

The entities in the corporation would be local governments, the financial community, community organizations such as chambers of commerce, and private sector companies in legal, real estate, construction and manufacturing fields.

The corporation would have at least one financial and one public sector member from each county. These various entities in the seven-county area have received information about the proposed corporation and have been asked to send their comments to Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission in Collinsville by June 15.

Under a grant funded by the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs, three SIMAPC planners — Mike Boer, Bob White and Lesley Mitchell — have undertaken the task of finding out whether or not the corporation is feasible.

Boer says a major question to be answered is whether the various groups would be willing to give financial support to the corporation.

A goal of the corporation would be to provide "gap" financing, reducing the interest rates on loans from commercial banks. It would be expected to increase the amount of capital available to small and medium-sized businesses, stimulating the flow of needed capital.

A SIMAPC report says an assessment of the seven-county area shows that the greatest need is for working capital and long term capital at reasonable rates. The corporation would participate in loans for land acquisition, fixed asset financing, equipment and working capital.

Direct loans would normally not exceed $100,000. Each dollar of direct loan funds should leverage additional funds at a rate of one to three or better, however, the report said, but added that the loan in leverage ratio would be based on the needs of the client.

In addition to direct loans, the corporation could provide loan guarantees and "packaged loans," loans in which corporation funds would be combined with loans from private and other public sources.

Some of the corporation's administrative costs would be recovered through loan servicing fees and loan packaging and processing fees.

Grants from federal and state agencies and private foundations, and interest on loans of corporation funds would be other ways of recovering administrative costs.

The SIMAPC report notes that the costs of starting up the corporation would have to be met from federal, state and private sources because

Governor opposes auto emission testing

Attempts by the federal government to force parts of Illinois and 18 other states to begin mandatory testing of automobile emissions next year came under attack by Governor James R. Thompson Friday.

"I have gone on record as supporting the maintenance of clean air standards to improve the quality of our air, but mandatory testing is an ineffective, costly and highly-questionable feature of the federal act that ought to be changed by Congress," the governor stated.

Citing the ineffectiveness of vehicle testing in other states, Thompson said that mandatory vehicle emission testing "is another example of trying to solve a problem by creating another problem that costs millions of dollars, but has little positive effect."

The governor's statement followed Friday by Ann Gorsuch, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency administrator, that unless Congress changes the Clean Air Act, the EPA would be bound to ban new construction in some parts of the state of projects such as steel mills, oil refineries and organic chemical plants, which would increase pollution.

While the EPA is in sympathy with the state position, there would be no new standards, the administrator told Thompson.

"The Clean Air Act is to be operational by Jan. 1, 1983. It was rejected by the Illinois General Assembly in 1980," Thompson said he will work with governors in other states affected by the Clean Air Act to lobby Congress to change the law. "In the meantime, I will be working with other governors to extend the deadline for compliance so that the Clean Air Act can be amended," he said.

Mandatory automobile emission testing, which would be part of the act's requirements, would cost Illinois motorists approximately $500 million during the five years of the program's life and only minimal improvement of the air quality would be noted, Thompson contends. He said experience in other states confirms that.

The annual test fee would be about $13 and the average motorist would spend about $35 for repairs needed when a vehicle fails the test. In other states, about 30 percent of the vehicles fail the test.

"Because of its high cost and lack of effectiveness, I am asking our congressional delegation to work toward deleting this testing program from the Clean Air Act," the governor said.

"Although the Clean Air Act has been criticized by some, it has been a tremendous benefit to the citizens of this state and we should work hard to retain its most effective features. However, studies conducted since the act was adopted show that the requirements for mandatory car inspections make little environmental or economic sense."

The governor said the administration is exploring the possibility of alternative measures that could be offered as equivalent or better environmentally.

Seniors must fight for COLA benefits

Congress returned to Washington from Easter recess claiming to have won the elderly's permission to cut their Social Security cost-of-living adjustment.

The Washington Post prints stories every day telling us how representatives and senators, after "explaining" Social Security to their elderly constituents, gained "overwhelming support" for COLA cuts.

If seniors do support COLA cuts, they have been tricked into doing so.

Seniors, you are being told that you must participate in a "shared sacrifice by all taxpayers" to reduce the federal deficit. This is not true. Seniors, the poor, and disabled have already sacrificed enough for the sake of budget reductions.

To sacrifice again by giving up part of COLA is asking for more than a "shared sacrifice." Even if you gave up your entire cost-of-living increase, we would not help the deficit by one penny.

The revenue used for your retirement benefits comes only from payroll deductions paid by workers and their employers, not from Federal Income Tax revenues which are used for general spending.

The Social Security funds are added into the unified federal budget only for accounting purposes and not for payment of benefits to recipients. To give up some of your Social Security income, thinking that you are contributing to reducing the federal deficit, will only contribute to your personal income loss.

You must understand what Congress wants to do:

—Limit the COLA to as little as 4 percent when an increase of 7.6 percent is due in July, 1982.

—Keep the COLA at 4 percent for at least several years.

—Postpone the COLA so it won't be received until October, 1982, so it won't be granted at all in 1983, and then will be granted later every year after that.

—Reduce COLA's for all people receiving Social Security and railroad retirement, and veterans, military and Civil Service pensions.

You must realize what will happen if you give up your COLA:

—You will not get it back again. You cannot recoup the losses next year or later.

—COLA reductions will not be for just one year. The new law will be permanent that will limit your future income increases.

As inflation continues, your spendable income will shrink.

—The sacrifice you make will not affect the federal deficit at all.

—You will not be protected from further attacks on Social Security benefits.

—The Congress will not look for a fair, constructive plan to reduce the deficit if you give in.

COLA reductions would not be insignificant. If your monthly benefit is $350, you could lose more than $200 in the first year alone. COLA cuts could invigorate the number of elderly living in poverty by 1.2 million; there already are four million living in poverty and 2.5 on poverty's brink.

There probably has never been a greater, more urgent reason to appeal to your congressmen and senators.

Your future income is in their hands. Tell them they cannot fail you. But they may let you down if you do not give them the message of this Seniorism. They must understand Social Security as you do. Remind them that your Social Security is your survival. Remind them that they have a duty to protect it.

Arrest 4 women from St. Louis

Four St. Louis women, who allegedly stole merchandise from three stores in Granite City, were arrested Thursday, were each charged with three counts of theft.

Police went to the shopping area following a call from an off-duty officer, who alleged seeing the women leave several stores with bulging purses, get into a vehicle for a short time and then go into other stores.

Uniformed officers said shoes and dress were visible in the car. The items were removed from the vehicle and placed on the trunk, where they were identified by employees from Peabody's, Walgreen Drugs and Shoe Fair.

Included in the merchandise were five pairs of shoes, valued at $110, four dresses worth $136, and assorted items worth about $500.

None of the women would admit to owning or driving the vehicle, a Cadillac, and it was impounded by police.

Alfreda E. Welch, 28, Rolanda Irving, 24, Carol D. Wright, 22, and Brenda Scott, 22, all of St. Louis, were charged with three counts each of theft.

They appeared in court at 3:35 p.m. Thursday. All pleaded innocent to the charges and bonds were set at $500 each.

Miss Wright was released at 7:55 p.m. Thursday and Miss Scott was released at 9 p.m. Thursday. Bonds were issued for the two other women, who were transferred Friday to Madison County Jail at Edwardsville.

Salvage experts pumped 420,000 gallons of the toxic liquid from the barge during the weekend. The barge then was raised and towed away, and the Alton lock was restored to full operation Sunday morning.

Cargo leakage was described as minimal. Gates at Alton Lock and Dam 26 were closed to all waterway traffic for six and a half hours Saturday afternoon and evening.

KERR-MCGEE BURGLARY Between 4:30 p.m. Thursday and 5:20 a.m. Friday, three buildings at the Kerr-McGee Chemical Corporation on Washington Avenue in Madison were burglarized. A complete inventory was being made for police. Among the items taken were an air conditioner, heavy charger and office equipment.

TRAFFIC CHARGES William Lee Dennis, 22, of 711 N. Main St., was released by Madison police on $100 cash bond at 3:40 p.m. Today after being stopped in the 500 block of Madison Avenue, Madison, and charged with failure to transfer title, failure to secure new registration, and driving on a suspended license.

New pollution reporting method

With the official beginning of the summertime ozone season last Saturday, the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency will start using the federal Pollution Standard Index as the exclusive method of reporting air pollution in Illinois.

In past years, state law required ozone advisories and alerts to be issued at different times than the federal reporting system. This spring the Pollution Control Board changed state air pollution episode stages to match the federal PSI.

The PSI reporting system has been used in the Chicago and East St. Louis metropolitan areas for a couple years. Last year, a PSI was issued for Peoria also. This spring, PSI reports for nine more urban areas will be issued daily, including this region of Illinois.

"The PSI has been well received around the nation because it is simple and easy to understand," said David Kolaz, Manager, Air Monitoring Section of the Division of Air Pollution Control. "One of the shortcomings of the old air pollution notification system was that it used scientific notations such as parts-per-million and micrometers-per-cubic-meter. The PSI solves that communication barrier. It converts the scientific readings to a whole number from 1 to 500. These index numbers indicate the relative severity of air pollution present."

When the PSI is below 100, air quality is good or moderate. When the index rises above 100, it means that persons with heart and respiratory ailments should take precautions. The higher the index number, the more serious the problem becomes.

As many as five different types of air pollutants are considered when calculating the PSI for an area. The pollutant with the highest relative concentration is the one selected for the PSI report. If two pollutants are good to moderate, but a third in the same area is registering unhealthy levels, it is that pollutant which is reported.

Pollution Standard Index reports are issued each weekday at 2 p.m. by the Illinois EPA over the Illinois Weather Wire. The reports tell what air quality conditions have been up to that point each day and provide a forecast for the next 24 hours.

If air pollution concentrations rise to unhealthy levels, a special notice is placed on the weather wire at the time the unhealthy conditions are detected. The notice includes a health warning, advice to susceptible portions of the population, and a prognosis. No PSI report will be issued on Saturdays and Sundays for those areas where air quality is good or moderate. If unhealthy levels are reached between Friday nights and Monday mornings, a special notice will be issued over the weather wire. The Illinois EPA has a duty officer on the weekends assigned to keep watch on air pollution readings.

Particulates for which alerts may be issued for this area include total suspended particulates (TSP), sulfur dioxide, carbon monoxide and ozone.

Pollution points from zero to 50 are considered "good." From 51 to 100 points on the index is considered "moderate" pollution. "Unhealthy" levels are from 101 to 200 and mild aggravation may be experienced by susceptible persons. Reduced physical exertion and outdoor activity is recommended for persons with existing heart or respiratory ailments.

When the pollution index is between 201 and 300, the air is considered "unhealthy," according to the EPA and elderly persons and those with heart or lung disease should avoid exercise and stay indoors, it is between 301 and 400 would be declared "hazardous" by the EPA and the general population would be warned to avoid outdoor activity. Levels between 401 and 500 also would be termed "hazardous" and could cause premature death of the ill and elderly. Even healthy persons might experience irritation, should such levels be reached. The EPA would recommend that everyone remain indoors, keep windows and doors closed and minimize all physical exertion.

million dollars worth of improvements since 1974.

She also told reporters that she does not believe the defeat of Cavataio was the result of protest to the Ginger Creek building.

Some of the campaign literature objecting to the election of the slated candidates indicated only that persons with stronger Girl Scout backgrounds should be elected.

However, Mrs. Nelson, who has been involved in Girl Scouting for 19 years, told reporters she believes the argument over the site of the new council office played a major role in her election.

Letters opposing the Ginger Creek site were distributed to about 200 persons at St. Paul's United Church of Christ in Belleville, before the vote was taken there.

One of the primary arguments used by opponents of the Ginger Creek site was that those who donate to the organization or purchase Girl Scout Cookies feel that their money will be used directly to aid the girls. Instead, the opponents noted, part of the money is being used to build new headquarters in a posh development.

its own with a day of bluegrass, a country & western day, and, definitely, a "big band sound" night.

Fornasewski also will try to bring "something different" to the festival. He is "hoping to have a traditional Colonial drum and fife corps," he says. Local dance groups are being encouraged to contact Fornasewski at 451-6515 if they would like to participate in the festival.

Fornasewski also would like to hold a local talent contest on the opening day of the festivities with the finalist selected the following day. He is asking those interested in entering to contact him.

Merchants will be offering pre-ticket sales to the Murphy Brothers Exposition Carnival that will provide rides for both children and adults during the six-day festival.

Parents said the city and carnival are both looking for a safe spot, perhaps at the 10th Street Overpass site, to hold a small fireworks display during the festival.

The commercial and business portion of the festival is expected to include a new car display downtown and a special "Pepsi Day" event.

Mrs. Hildebrand says it is often difficult to make the community aware of its own opportunity available through its local access channel.

Under the supervision of South-Western Cable personnel, residents are free to initiate whatever form of programming they wish.

As an example, in Edwardsville, the local access district has begun a weekly program there.

Mrs. Hildebrand said in the future a grand opening of the studio here will be held. She hopes to eventually begin a series of "live" transmissions each Wednesday.

Warning shot fired, youth flees police

Venice police fired a warning shot at a prisoner who allegedly escaped at about 2:40 a.m. Saturday. The prisoner, John R. Cowan, 19, of 2556 Westmoreland Drive, returned to the police station and was surrounded about 10:30 a.m. the same day.

Both Cowan and a companion, Robert D. Blankenship, 17, of 1106 Twenty-Seventh St., were allegedly in a Blazer, when they threatened a plowed farmer's field near the Venice riverfront when officers arrived and saw the vehicle disappear over the top of the levee.

Officers then discovered the car had overturned and landed in a gully. Cowan had apparently been driving the car, in which officers allegedly found beer.

Blankenship and Cowan were both taken to the police station. Cowan was at the rear of the station, he allegedly shoved an officer and fled on foot. An officer yelled several warnings before firing the warning shot.

Cowan has been charged with reckless driving, driving while under the influence of alcohol or drugs, fleeing from a police officer, illegal transportation of alcohol and escape from custody. He is being held on a $250 cash bond.

Blankenship was charged with illegal possession of alcohol and released on $52 cash bail.

Sign Wednesday for Venice kindergarten

Kindergarten registration for the 1982-1983 school year will be held Wednesday, May 5, at the Venice Elementary School from 8:30 a.m. to 11 a.m. and from 12 noon to 4 p.m.

Any child who will be 5 years of age on or before Dec. 31, 1982, is eligible to enroll in kindergarten. Kindergarten classes are half-day sessions and are held at the Venice Elementary School. There are morning and afternoon sessions each day.

A birth certificate and immunization record are to be presented at the time of registration. These must be received before actual attendance can begin next fall. Hospital records are not accepted.

Illinois law states that no child may enter school for the first time without the following immunizations: whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus, polio, measles, rubella (3-day measles). Exceptions are made only for religious or medical reasons.

Physical and dental examinations are also required before attendance in kindergarten. Necessary forms are given to parents at the time of registration so that appointments for examinations can be arranged during the summer months.

The school nurse will be available on registration day to explain health regulations to parents and also to review immunization records. The child being registered must accompany the parent. Questions concerning the registration will be answered by calling Venice School at 877-5986 or 876-4120.

The fourth annual Early Childhood Screening program also is scheduled Wednesday in conjunction with kindergarten registration. Vision and hearing, speech and language, cognitive skills and fine and gross motor development will be checked.

All children between the ages of 3 and 5 years old are eligible for the screening. Parents wishing their children to participate are asked to call the Venice School today or Tuesday for an appointment. The screening service is free and takes between 30 and 60 minutes to complete.

North continues accreditation

Granite City High School North Principal Gilbert Wainman has received notification from Dr. John S. Kemp, state director of the North Central Accrediting Association at the University of Illinois, that North High School has been congratulated on its continued accreditation for 1981-82.

"The school has been a member of the North Central Accrediting Association since 1973, and in all those years it has been fully accredited. This should be a matter of satisfaction to the students and the parents of the school, since accreditation gives assurance that the school meets those minimal yet rigorous preconditions for effective education established by the association. Through this voluntary membership in the NCA, the school and the people in the district have committed themselves to the pursuit of quality in education," Kemp said.

"Quality education, an ideal in the past, is an imperative today. North Central Accrediting Association accreditation and evaluation offer both a framework and an effective tool to help our schools clarify their goals, recognize their strengths and limitations, and implement processes and programs to help meet the needs of today's students," Wainman noted.

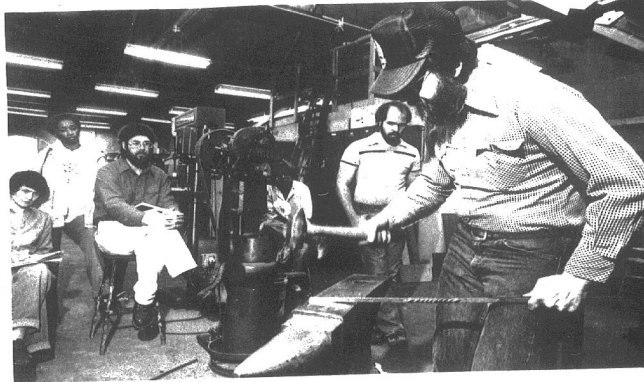

Accreditation by the North Central Accrediting Association ensures that the school is meeting the minimal conditions for effectiveness. By setting standards for basic operations of the school and by requiring a comprehensive self-study once every seven years, the NCA stimulates the school towards continuous improvement. This is a commitment in action, for a school evaluation involves students, faculty, and parents.

The external team is composed of teachers, administrators, university personnel, and Illinois State Board of Education representatives.

The year the school spends on an evaluation enables every teacher to participate in the development of a comprehensive plan for school improvement. NCA accreditation helps build public confidence by providing evidence to the public that the school is meeting expectations and fulfilling not only local standards, but also those more widely accepted throughout the state and the nation. NCA standards are established by the profession itself, school authorities noted.

New regulations could free $100 million for mortgages

New state regulations allowing more flexibility in the kinds of mortgages covered by private insurers should make more than $100 million in mortgage money available to home buyers in Illinois, according to Governor James R. Thompson.

"This change will provide relief for home buyers and the home building industries, which have been hit hard by the national recession," the governor said. "By making this change, it will be easier for home buyers to buy a house under terms that are affordable to them and, in the long run, profitable to the lender and homebuilder," he added.

The change, which affects negatively amortized mortgages, will allow lending institutions to obtain insurance on these mortgages, a practice that previously was forbidden in Illinois.

A negatively amortized mortgage, used by persons expecting an increase in their income over several years, allows a home buyer to make smaller payments on the loan during the first few years of the mortgage. After that, the buyer begins to pay back the mortgage on an indexed basis, paying a larger monthly amount than in the early portion of the loan's life.

For example, a negative amortization loan could be made at 18 percent interest, but the buyer might pay only 12 percent interest during the first few years of the loan, until his income increases. Then he would pay higher interest, averaging out to 18 percent over the life of the loan.

Previously, negatively amortized mortgages could not be insured in Illinois under the Department of Insurance's regulations.

"Director Phil O'Connor of the Department of Insurance and Terry Paul, the executive vice-president of the Illinois Association of Homebuilders, deserve a great deal of credit in getting this rule changed," the governor said.

Paul said he feels the change in the law, which brings Illinois in line with 46 other states with similar arrangements, will allow thousands of new homes to be built and sold in Illinois, aiding the ailing homebuilding industry and allowing persons who previously could not afford homes to purchase them.

18 openings in Elderhostel program

If you are active, alive, interested in the world and you or your spouse is over 60, then Elderhostel has a place for you.

Elderhostel gives older adults a chance to spend a week at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and participate in a series of learning experiences. The program is $150 for the week. There are two separate weeks in which Elderhostel is offered at SIUE, and the second session has already been filled. There is still room for 18 people in the session from June 27 until July 3.

The session includes opportunities for the participants to learn about the "Ethnic History of Southwestern Illinois," "America as Seen in the Short Story" and "The Incredible World of Primitives." The topics will be dealt with in lectures, field trips and various group activities.

Reba J. Klenke, staff assistant in the Office of Continuing Education and Elderhostel coordinator, said the participants can choose which activities and classes they wish to attend. She said the people do what they want, but "they usually want to do everything."

The ethnic history activities will include an authentic Polish dinner, Polish folk dancing and "a visit to an area rich in Polish and Croatian history," Mrs. Klenke said.

Primate studies will take the group to the St. Louis Zoological Park for a behind-the-scenes look at the Primate House. Mrs. Klenke said the trip will end with a dinner at The Spaghetti Factory on Laclede's Landing in St. Louis.

The cost of Elderhostel can be less for area residents, Mrs. Klenke said, if they commute to SIUE and don't take advantage of the overnight accommodations. Mrs. Klenke said commuters will be charged $100 and will still participate in all activities and would have their meals at the university.

The people who do stay at the university will stay at Tower Lake Apartments. Mrs. Klenke said the people are usually married couples with their spouses, and because of that, are assigned two to an apartment. Single persons are teamed up with another person of the same sex, or given a private room if there is only one single person.

The people who participate in the Elderhostel generally have several things in common. "They are usually still active and in life's mainstream," Mrs. Klenke said. Many of them are still working. She added that they are usually highly intelligent individuals, although their formal schooling varies. She said they are generally "interested in the world."

Mrs. Klenke said backgrounds vary along with marital status and ages. The average age is about 67, but Mrs. Klenke said there was an 84-year-old woman who "ran circles around everyone else" at a past Elderhostel.

The Elderhostel schedule includes free time for participants to socialize, visit friends in the area, or just rest. The Elderhostel at SIUE varies a little from the national program because most participants are married, while single women are predominant nationally, Mrs. Klenke said.

She said the national program accommodates more than 5,000 people at 500 participating institutions. There are another 200,000 on the organization's mailing list, and the program is growing, Mrs. Klenke added. Those interested in the SIUE program may still register for the June 27 to July 3 session. They must contact Reba Klenke at 1-802-3210 for advance registration and other information.

Ronald J. Stufflebean, 24, of Glen Carbon was being held pending the posting of $1,000 cash bond on a Granite City warrant charging him with theft under $300. Pontoon Beach police reported that he arrested Stufflebean when he was found asleep 3:40 a.m. Friday in an auto on Highway 163 near the sandpit. The car Stufflebean allegedly was in was stolen on Monday, April 26, from Carhage, Tex. A spokesman said that they are checking with Texas authorities for possible warrants on Stufflebean.

Habits can help bring good health

By MARY RICHARDS
Illinois Department of Public Health

A wealth of scientific evidence reveals that the key to whether a person will live to a healthy, vibrant old age can be found in several personal habits — habits which the individual controls.

In this century, the health industry has greatly reduced life-threatening infectious and communicable diseases, and our goal as public health professionals is becoming more and more one of risk reduction, or prevention.

Good health depends on a combination of things — the environment in which we live and work, personal traits, the care provided by doctors and hospitals, and the personal habits we practice daily, usually without much thought.

All of these work together to protect a person's health. Doctors receive many years of training to know how to diagnose our ills and prescribe treatment. They have knowledge of the human body that most of us can't hope to understand.

Progress in curbing pupil lunch deficit

Granite City's school lunch program remains a cost item for taxpayers but the financial imbalance has been steadily reduced throughout the 1981-82 school year. Losses in March were $688 a day, compared to $698 per day in February.

There is greater student participation this year, and more flexibility in lunch provided in the types of lunches made available to students.

School officials praise the cooperation of the lunchroom staffs, plus a general study made by Fred Marwick & Mitchell of St. Louis and more detailed analyses by the Providence Management and Marketing consultants of Granite City.

A review of the 21 school days in March shows "black ink" at seven of the schools (Lake, Johnson, Wilson, Marshall, Webster, Niedringhaus and Nameoki).

There were relatively small deficits at nine other attendance centers (Frohhardt, Logan, Grigsby Junior High, Emerson, Mitchell, Coolidge Junior High, Maryville, Parkview and Prather Junior High) and larger losses at the high schools, where staffing costs were cited as among the reasons.

At North High, the imbalance was $8,151.

North's cafeteria revenue of $22,646 included $18,943 cash and $3,703 from the government. Costs consisted of $17,786 payroll, $6,319 food, $1,979 warehouse food, $335 warehouse paper, $291 warehouse cleaning materials and $104 maintenance, a total of $26,707.

QCHS South lunches attracted $10,531 in revenue ($13,857 cash and $3,673 from the government) but there was a deficit for the month of $7,064.

Costs at South of $35,515 included $17,117 payroll, $6,952 food, $1,996 warehouse food, $71 paper, $211 cleaning, $171 maintenance and $62 other costs.

Revenue per manhour, based on actual hours worked, was $6.37 at South and $9.81 at North, varying from $11.81 to $13.75 at the junior high schools and from $10.20 to $19.35 at the grade schools.

more beneficial to your health to rely on their advice. When your health is threatened — yes. But many of us rely too much on doctors to keep us healthy. We often fail to see the importance of preventive actions we can take to look and feel healthy.

There are risks that you can control: risks stemming from your personal behavior and habits. These are known as your lifestyle.

It is estimated that as many as seven of the leading causes of death in the United States could be reduced through common sense changes in our lifestyle.

These causes include all the heart, blood vessel and kidney diseases, the many forms of cancer, and accidents. Together, these account for over 60 percent of the fatalities.

During the 1970s the expected life span for Americans increased by 2.7 years. In the ten-year period before that, the expected life span increased by only one year.

Much of the credit for this improvement must go to earlier efforts at prevention. Nearly all the gains in the infectious diseases have come as a result of improvements in sanitation, housing, nutrition and immunization. But some of the recent gains are due to measures people have taken to help themselves.

There are seven simple measures that are within our grasp and which will enhance our prospects of good health. They are:

1. Elimination of cigarette smoking.

2. Moderate use of alcohol.

3. Moderate dietary changes to reduce the intake of excess calories, fat, salt and sugar.

4. Moderate exercise.

5. Reduction of stress, at intervals determined by age and sex, for major disorders such as high blood pressure and certain cancers.

6. Adherence to speed laws and the use of seat belts.

Physical health and mental health are often linked.

Both physical and mental health are enhanced by strong family ties, assistance of close friends, and use of the support systems in the community, such as church and social organizations.

If we are willing to put forth the effort to change our bad habits, much of today's premature death and disability can be avoided.

Those who have further questions about how to lower their risk of premature death may write to the Illinois Department of Public Health, Risk Reduction Program, Division of Education and Information, 535 W. Jefferson, Springfield, Ill. 62761.

CANCER FIGHTER. Patsy J. Callahan of St. Elizabeth Medical Center, receives a certificate signifying completion of a two-week training course for cancer registrars. The certificate is presented by Dr. Myles P. Cunningham, chairman of the American Cancer Society, Illinois Division's Cancer Incidence and End Results Committee. Thirty-one registrars completed a special training course recently. The program was designed to give a short-term intensive overview of the hospital registry operation. It also included training in major cancer fighting sites and opportunities for practical experience in registry work.

VA seeks 1,200 nurses

As the nation observes National Nurses Week this week, the Veterans Administration will step up its campaign to recruit about 1,200 registered nurses to fill vacancies at its medical centers.

In addition to registered nurse vacancies, the VA has 900 openings for licensed practical nurses at its 172 hospitals across the nation. VA officials point out the advantages of working for the government-run system, which includes liberal leave and a good retirement program.

The VA has 60,030 nursing personnel, 30,391 of whom are registered nurses. There are an additional 8,337 licensed practical nurses. Almost half of the medical centers have special entrance pay rates, and the salary scale has been increased to 19 steps in 20 hospitals and one outpatient clinic.

Nurses interested in working for the VA may contact the closest VA medical center to check on openings. If there are no vacancies there, the personnel office will furnish the interested applicant with locations and types of vacancies throughout the nation.

Campaign for adoptions working

Illinois is achieving impressive results in its campaign to assure permanent homes for adoptable children under state guardianship, Governor James R. Thompson believes.

The governor said Illinois courts completed adoptions of 567 state wards in the first nine months of the current fiscal year, a 37 percent increase over last fiscal year.

Most adoptions involved "special needs" children: black and mixed race children, white and Hispanic youngsters over age 10, and children of all races who have physical or mental handicaps.

"Children are our most valuable resource," Thompson said, "and placing them in stable homes is one of the more satisfying aspects about working in state government especially when the children adopted have special needs."

The governor and DCF Director Gregory L. Coler reported the gains at a meeting with officials of the Illinois Broadcasters Association.

The governor said other adoption statistics are equally encouraging. Children freed for adoption during the nine-month period totaled 547, a 34 percent increase, and adoptive placements totaled 551, up 41 percent over last year.

Thompson said he is especially pleased by the new adoption gains because they follow a 17 percent increase in adoptions of state wards recorded in fiscal year 1981.

The governor gave several reasons for the accelerated adoption pace:

—Additional DCF adoption workers and attorneys specializing in adoption as the result of a supplemental appropriation authorized by the General Assembly in 1981.

—Reform of Illinois laws governing adoption, which has spotlighted the plight of children in foster care.

—Establishment of the Adoption Information Center which operates a toll-free hotline (800-672-2390) linking prospective parents with waiting adoptable children.

—Success of a statewide mass media recruitment campaign.

Children who have been placed successfully in adoptive homes include

South, North eliminated early in Cahokia tourney

CAHOKIA — Neither Granite City North nor Granite City South fared well in the Cahokia softball tournament over the weekend. Both teams lost their first two games and were eliminated from the tournament.

Saturday morning, E. St. Louis Senior defeated North 7-2 and Alton beat South 14-4. Friday afternoon, North lost to Belleville East 11-2 and South fell to Wood River 10-0.

ALTON 14, GCS 4

Paula Durantz was just trying to help out. South's regular catcher, Dottie Smith, was absent from the game. Durantz filled in for Smith behind the plate.

It was the first time Durantz had caught this season. The result was a broken right arm.

Durantz was hit on the right elbow with a swung bat in the third inning. Runners had been stealing bases. She decided to move closer to the plate. She thought it would help her throw out the base runners.

Instead, the bat hit her arm and Durantz's favor resulted in a visit to the hospital.

Pat Yates, South's head coach, felt the absence of their regular catcher was a key factor in the game. Both Durantz and her replacement, Michelle Kientzle, had trouble throwing out base runners and protecting home plate. Alton scored six of its runs on passed balls.

"After Paula got hurt, we had a let down. I don't know if the let down was

"I think each game we're gaining valuable experience. We're still a year or two away before we get it all together."

Pat Yates

because she had gotten injured or if it was from the delay of the game," Yates said.

The game was delayed 30 minutes because of Durantz's injury.

Before Durantz was injured, South was winning 4-3. Alton then scored one more run in the third inning and exploded for six runs in the fourth inning and four runs in the sixth inning to claim the win on the 10-run rule.

Meanwhile, South's bats were silent. "Today and yesterday, we didn't hit at all," Yates said. "I always tell the girls you can afford a bad inning in the field if you can hit the ball."

Yates thought the girls might have a psychological block about their hitting skills. Against Wood River, nobody was hitting the ball. She felt after their poor offensive performance against Wood River, the girls might have started to doubt their hitting ability.

Yates still attributes many of South's lapses to inexperience. Only one senior players relied on her for instructions and advice.

Coupled with North's inexperience at various defensive positions was their offensive lapse. North had trouble hitting Senior's pitching.

"She had good velocity and good speed and a rise ball," Lignoul said. "We swung at a lot of balls that were out of the strike zone."

E.S.T. 1.7, GCN 2

Unfamiliarity plagued North in its loss to Senior on Saturday morning.

In Friday afternoon's game, Jill Bledsoe, North's senior shortstop and team leader, tore tendons and ligaments in her ankle while sliding into home plate. She is lost for the season.

Her replacement, Cindy Minner, then injured her knee ligaments. She is also lost for the season.

The injuries forced Gus Lignoul, North's head coach, to put players at unfamiliar positions in Saturday's game.

Lignoul feels they have never recovered from the 10 days without practice because of the bad weather. Right before the lay-off, North was playing good softball and had defeated Edwardsville 7-6.

"We haven't played to our capabilities like we did against Edwardsville," Lignoul said. "Until we do that, we won't win any games."

To start winning again, Lignoul feels

Steeler netter win streak ends at five

GRANITE CITY — As the saying goes, all good things must come to an end. Such was the case of Granite City North tennis team's streak of five victories in a row.

Thursday afternoon the Steeler tennis team defeated Roxana 7-0 for its fifth straight victory, but the following afternoon that streak was snapped by a more powerful team from Hazelwood Central. North lost the match with Hazelwood by the same margin of victory over Cahokia, 7-0.

"I knew they were going to be tough," said North's coach John Van Buntick. "A team doesn't win their conference five of six years without having some talent," he said of Hazelwood.

Visiting Hazelwood began the pairing in excellent fashion as Dave Benedict defeated North's best player, Kendall Whitlington, in straight sets 6-4, 6-3.

In second singles action North's Everett Jolly, playing for injured Dave Lipe, was defeated by John Fuchs 6-2, 6-1. Lipe was out with a sore shoulder, but is expected to resume action tomorrow when the Steelers take on Alton.

In third singles action Jesse Byrd fell to Hazelwood's Dan Maxwell 7-5, 6-1.

North's Jeff Rush, starting in his first singles match, lost to Hazelwood's Matt Koopman in straight sets 6-0, 6-2. Rush, a freshman, looks promising for future Steeler teams.

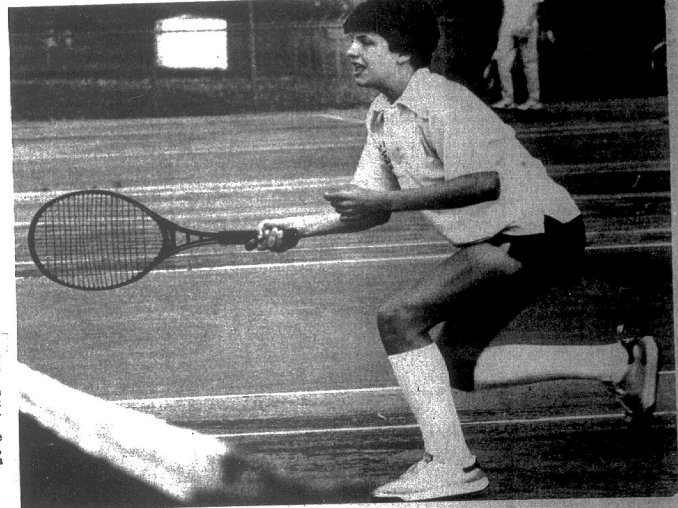

In first doubles action North's Whitlington and Jolly jumped out to an early lead in the first set, but faltered in the second and third sets to lose 1-6, 6-3, 6-1, to Hazelwood's Fuchs and Maxwell.

In second doubles action North's Byrd and Scott Dennis were winless to Hazelwood's Ron Hritzkowen and John Pruess 6-0, 6-0.

In the final match of the afternoon Mike Lauderdale and John Accuscia lost to Chris Nixon and Matt Kovatovich 6-2, 6-1.

Thursday the Steelers take on the Alton Red Birds on their home courts, followed by a match in Collinsville on Wednesday.

Cahokia sprinters edge Steelers

North underclassmen fare well

GRANITE CITY — Cahokia, aided by a strong performance from its sprinters, defeated Granite City North and Roxana in a girls' triangular track meet here Friday.

Cahokia won the meet with 72 points, North was second with 54 points, and Roxana had 36 points.

The Comanches took the 100, 200, and 400 meter dashes and the 400 and 800 relays to clinch the meet.

"They're really strong in the sprinting events and they have tough relay teams where they have their speed," David Ames, a North assistant track coach, said.

Underclassmen, especially North's two freshmen harders, helped the Steelers take second place in the meet.

Paula Roszycki was the Steelers' only double winner in the meet. She won the 100 meter low hurdles in 17.8 seconds, 1.15 seconds faster than the second place finisher, teammate Tracey Cottrell. Miss Roszycki won the 200 meter hurdles in 27.88 seconds, and Miss Cottrell was third.

"Paula's really running well for us right now," Ames said.

North's 1600 meter relay team also won that race in 4:23.75 seconds.

Second place finishes for the Steelers included Carla Niemeyer in the 800 meters, Vicki Schaefer in the mile, Debbie Brandt in the shot put, the 400 relay, and the 800 medley.

The Steelers were without the services of Christy Lauderdale, who was injured. She will be back for the Steelers' next meet. "That really hurt us in the distance events," Ames said.

"I thought everyone did what they should have done," he said.

Cahokia downs Steelers, conference race tightens

CAHOKIA — It's not impossible, but it's getting more and more difficult for Granite City North's baseball team to win the Gateway East Conference.

Cahokia defeated North for the second time in four days Thursday. Despite North's comeback try in the seventh inning, Cahokia won 6-5. The Steelers and the Comanches in addition to Althoff and South have two losses each inside the GEC. Edwardsville should be counted out of the race with an 8-4 conference record.

The only way North or South can win the conference outright is by winning their remaining GEC games and by a Cahokia and Althoff loss.

A four-way tie between North, South, Cahokia and Belleville Althoff is also possible because all three teams could lose three games this season.

The Steelers came very close to avenging their loss to Cahokia Monday, but they just couldn't get that tying run across the plate.

Rod Hessler and Kevin Hayes opened North's seventh inning with singles. Vince Mitchell walked to lead the bases, and DePew also drew a walk to score Hessler.

"You never know when the top four hitters aren't going to hit, and they almost always have to hit for you to win. I was encouraged that we were able to score five runs with just the bottom part of the order hitting."

Bob Stegemeier
Steelers baseball coach

Hayes and Mitchell scored on ground balls to the infield, but the next batter popped up to leave DePew, the tying run, on base.

What was most encouraging about North's comeback attempt was when it came. Cahokia took a 6-0 lead in the fifth inning and should have run away with the game.

North coach Bob Stegemeier said, "We could have rolled over and said we can't score, but we hit the ball hard in the last innings, especially the five through nine hitters."

Indeed, the lower half of the order came through for the Steelers. Carl Luehmann, Hessler and Hayes were all 2-for-3 in the game. Mitchell was 1-for-2. The first four hitters were hitless in the game.

You never know when the top four hitters aren't going to hit, and they almost always have to hit for you to win. I was encouraged that we were able to score five runs with just the bottom part of the order hitting."

Stegemeier said.

Because the Steelers depleted their pitching corps in the past week with six games in six days, Luehmann, who hadn't pitched at all in his high school career, was called on to start the game. Luehmann was the losing pitcher, but he struck out six batters and walked only one batter in six innings. Sophomore Sam Tate was scheduled to pitch, but he suffered a knee injury and will not play for two weeks.

"He threw well, and he could have won if we would have played a little better defense. Carl's a real competitor," Stegemeier said.

North made two errors in the game, and one of those triggered Cahokia's 4-run fifth inning.

Chris Tenholder also defeated North for the second time this season. Last Monday, Tenholder held North to two hits. On Thursday, North hit the ball harder and earned seven hits.

"He pitched an excellent game despite having only three days of rest between games," Stegemeier said.

North had won five of its last six games before the loss to the Comanches, including a doubleheader sweep of Granite City South the night before. The Steelers won the games 4-1 and 14-1. Paul Barrington was the winning pitcher in the first game, and Kevin Patterson the winner in the second game.

Steve Trittschuh hit a grand slam home run in the second game, and Mike Sullivan and DePew both had solo home runs in the doubleheader.

In the first game, North only outlived the Warriors 6-5, but three South errors were critical in the loss.

South held an 8-4 lead in the fourth inning of the second game, but a six run fifth inning for North, climaxed by Trittschuh's homer, took South out of the game.

South tried a comeback in the final inning when Tom Newton, Kent Allen and Milt Ross scored, but a pop fly in the infield stopped that rally.

Joe Schneke was the loser for South in the first game and Mike Zukas was the loser in the second game.

Sports of all Sorts

By AL BARNES

The 1937-38 Granite City South High School basketball team posted a sensational 25-7 record and advanced to the Illinois State High School Association's Sweet Sixteen tournament at Champaign during the annual March Madness.

All but two, maybe one, of the Traveling Ten, are still living in the Quad-Cities area.

Only, Cam Van Buskirk, has passed on, as has their venerable and highly respected coach, Byron Bonart. The team's equipment manager, Harold (Hard Bananas) Brown, just retired and moved to the Lakes County of Missouri.

This reporter didn't arrive on the local scene until 1945. My first assignment for the old St. Louis Star-Tribune covering an athletic event in Granite City was the following year as the whole town turned out to welcome Coach Lawrence Macauley and his Illinois basketball champions at a ceremony at City Hall.

But, as a reporter first at Lincoln, Ill., in mid-state and then way down south at Cairo, I was more than aware of the skills of the Granite City High athletic teams and particularly of that Cinderella Quintet which, paced by all-time great Andy Phillips, won the Illinois state crown in a thriller over Herrin in 1940.

It has been only recently, though, that I've been made aware that the Happy Warriors cagers of 1937-38 was a brilliant aggregation and on the record, was perhaps a better team than the 1939-40 champs. In fact, the state championship team of Phillips and Evon Parsaghiann, et al, had a little blemish on its record. The rules at that time permitted a team to lose and yet remain in contention for a trip to Champaign.

The 1937-38 Warrior cagers were a colorful group and well drilled. The starting five were: at the forwards, Ken Parker and Dick Yates; at center it was Bob (Red) Schmidt, and the guards were two burly and highly mobile players, Cam Van Buskirk and Bill (Barrell Head) Harrison.

Subs, and nearly always in the order they entered the games, were: Dave Morgan, Marion (Ni-Ni) Wilson, Gene Bennett and, just before state tournament time, sophomores Andy Phillips and Evon Parsaghiann, were promoted to the varsity 'to give them valuable tournament experience playing time," according to Coach Bonart.

Two others, Vic Hoff and Louis Branding, made valuable contributions to the team. In advancing to their shot at the state crown, the 1937-38 Granite City prep cagers turned back some really outstanding competition: Collinsville High and its star, Hoot Evers, and Wood River and the Oilers' Lie Astroth, now an official with the Illinois State High School Association at Bloomington. The story from the past: Davis, former Granite City mayor and himself a great warrior football and basketball player in the late twenties.

Another constant in the story from the past: assisting Bonart was Len Davis, former Granite City mayor and himself a great warrior football and basketball player in the late twenties.

Center sponsors basketball tourneys

similar tournament for men on Friday, May 14. Both tournaments are three-person, full court tournaments. Any team in the Quad-City area is welcome to participate.

First place trophies will be awarded to each each individual of both the men's and women's winning teams. Persons wishing to register for either of the 6:30 p.m. tournaments should call Rev. Jeff Smith of the center at 877-4439. There is a $10 per team registration fee for the women's tournament and a $12.50 entry fee for the men's.

Plans for a summer league are pending.

Lincoln frustrates Madison

MADISON — East St. Louis Lincoln took a two run first inning lead they never relinquished in Friday's baseball game with Madison, and emerged 8-2 victors.

The loss adjusts the Trojan's record to 9-9 on the season. For most of the game the Tigers kept the Trojan's scoreless. Madison tagged the scoreboard in its half of the sixth inning when lead-off batter Terry Guest singled to begin Madison's rally.

Teammate Elbie McMillon's sacrifice bunt advanced Guest to second base.

Madison's Tony Hudzik's rap to Lincoln's Dabbs' at shortstop was too much to handle as Hudzik reached on the error and Guest scored Madison's first run, foiling Lincoln's hopes of a shutout.

Madison's Dave Kaminsky advanced to first base as Lincoln's catcher, Luckert interfered with his swing.

With Hudzik now at second base and Kaminsky at first, Madison's Jeff Dan Stern's walk with a single out, but back-to-back strike outs ended Madison's inning.

Madison never recovered. Two strike outs in the final inning and a ground out to second base ended the game. This afternoon the Trojans take on Triad at home. Play begins at 4 p.m.

Rotary district elects Shaffner

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Donald Shaffner, Granite City school district coordinator of off-campus and career education, has been chosen as governor-elect of District 646 of Rotary International.

Local predecessors as Rotary governor include: the late Rev. Dr. A. Ralph Lynn; the late Dr. Philip Dale; George T. Wilkins Sr., retired state superintendent of schools; and Kenneth L. Evers, the current district governor.

Elected at the annual district conference held in Quincy, Shaffner will serve as district governor-elect in July 1982-June 1983 and district governor in July 1983-June 1984.

The April 1984 district conference is expected to be held in the local area. Shaffner's home club is to be headed by Tom Thebeau in 1983-84 and Willie Seim in 1984-85.

Past president of the Granite City Rotary Club (1977-78) and a Paul Harris fellow (Harris founded Rotary International), Shaffner for several years has led the district's youth exchange program. Central and southwestern Illinois high school students spend a year studying overseas, and foreign students live in District 646 for a year.

Three Granite Cityans currently are studying abroad and the Granite City club is hosting a foreign student.

At last week's Rotary luncheon, Shaffner singled out Walter Milton for inviting him to be a Rotarian and Kenneth Evers for encouraging him to serve the district.

Rotarians attending the late-April conference in Quincy included Evers, who presided, and Shaffner, GC Rotary President Robert Maxwell, Richard Kerch, Elmer Baker and Darryl Slater. Slater spoke at the Quincy gathering on "Vocational Service."

Evers commented on the irony of differing levels of public interest in positive and negative occurrences: "Little will be noted about a meeting of 500 Rotarians seeking to foster improved understanding and service in the world. But everyone already has learned about a simultaneous meeting only a few miles away, at Hannibal, Mo., where there was a controversy over a Ku Klux Klan rally."

Shaffner was educated in East St. Louis schools, Illinois State University and SIUE.

An educator 20 years, he joined the local school system 16 years ago, teaching at Nameoki, the former Central Junior High and North High.

A past president of the Southwest Area Council of Teachers, Shaffner has been active in the Granite City Federation of Teachers, Tri-City Trades and Labor Council, Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce labor-management committee, Tri-Cities Area United Way, St. John's United Church of Christ in Collinsville, Youth Consultation Council of the Tri-Cities, regional Consortium of Vocational Educators and Employers, Twin Lakes Property Association and Phi Delta Kappa.

PTA supporting anti-drug legislation

Delegates to the Illinois PTA's 80th Annual Convention in Chicago voted unanimous support to the passage of anti-drug bills in Springfield, Illinois Attorney General Ty Fahner presented a plea to the PTA for support of four bills currently in the legislature.

Statewide grand juries would allow law enforcement people to cross over jurisdictional boundaries for better law enforcement in matters of consumer fraud, illicit drugs and improper disposal of hazardous wastes (HB-677).

A look-alike drug bill would prohibit the manufacture, advertisement for sale, distribution or possession with intent to distribute of look-alike drugs. These are over-the-counter substances made to look like illegal street drugs. A companion bill is in the Senate (HB-2070, SB-1300).

The creation of a Narcotics Profits Forfeiture Act would allow the seizure of the property of drug traffickers obtained with monies earned through illegal activities (HB-2450).

The creation of a Drug Paraphernalia Act would prohibit the manufacture, advertising, sale or possession of drug paraphernalia in Illinois.

The Illinois PTA has been a strong opponent to drugs and their promotion to young people. They have worked for three years for a Drug Paraphernalia Act and last week adopted a resolution against look-alike drugs.

Arizona Zeilke, legislation spokesman for the Illinois PTA, expressed gratitude to Attorney General Fahner for delineating this bipartisan effort to curb the drug problem in Illinois. Mrs. Zeilke further expressed the PTA's appreciation for bringing before the delegates the opportunity to support some legislative proposals to remedy the problem.

The unanimous support from the delegates only serves to magnify the highly sensitive concern they have for this area, especially as it relates to children and youth, a spokesman said.

JEWELRY, CASH GONE

Assorted jewelry items and $100 cash were taken in a burglary at the home of Elizabeth Mellicke, 2220 Grand Ave., last week. Entry was gained by forcing a storm door open and breaking a glass pane on an inside door.

Job fair for handicapped draws praise

The 1982 job fair for the handicapped, held at Engelbert Hall, Madison, was "the most successful we have been involved with," Mrs. Melba Grady, president of the Parents for Special Education, said this week.

Steve Balen is the director of Region I, Special Education District, sponsors of the job fair.

Mrs. Grady quoted many statements from attending employers: "I was so impressed with the job seekers' eagerness," "I was surprised at the good manners displayed by the students."

"Students were not as apprehensive as expected." "All were well prepared and so polite."

"This is my first job fair for the handicapped, and I'm highly impressed."

"I was apprehensive about coming but, I have learned so much today, I can assure you I will look forward to attending future job fairs for the handicapped."

Mrs. Grady said she felt that the cooperation of all committee members explains for the job fair being well organized and successful.

Those serving on the committee with her were Loretta Cook, Jean Fisher, Bob Gagliano, Kay Hahn, Don Hagan, Dorothy Lijewski, Skip McMillan, Stuart Mills, Barbara Schmiedke and Carolyn Smith.

Mrs. Grady acknowledged that Mrs. Sonya Ohanesian, a secretary at the Region I office, devoted many hours to the job fair.

The agencies and employers attending were: Children and Family Services, Coordinated Youth, Department of Rehabilitation, Guardianship and Advocacy Commission, Illinois Job Service, Madison County Association for Retarded Citizens, Madison County Urban League, Mental Health Services of Southern Madison County, Organization to Assist the Handicapped, Specialized Services, Social Security Administration.

AAA Maintenance Janitorial Service, City of Granite City, Deluxe Janitor Service, Emerson Electric Co., Granite City Housing Authority, Granite City School District 9, Hispanic Employment Program Council, Illinois Bell, IBM, Madison County Federal Savings, Madison County School District 12, McDonnell Douglas Corp., Ponderosa Steak House of Granite City, Granite City Press-Record, RCA-OMS Service, River Bluff Girl Scout Council, St. Elizabeth Medical Center, U.S. Corps of Engineers and U.S. Postal Service.

Special Education to all the employers in attendance.

It was noted that Marc Crisman, of the Illinois Job Service's employee relations staff is familiar with targeted jobs tax credits for those hiring disabled individuals who qualify. More information may be obtained by contacting him at 451-5756.

A follow-up survey sheet will be sent to employers who attended, for their recommendations to improve future job fairs for the handicapped.

Physicals for all GC pupils; shots for most Physical examinations have been undergone by all Granite City school district students, and nearly all of the recommended immunizations have been obtained.

Vasil Ettimoff, administrative assistant for pupil personnel records, praises "the nursing staff, administrators, local doctors and clinics who have made compliance possible for over 10,000 children."

"Illinois state computer printouts in regard to the 1982 immunization survey and physical exams have been received," he says.

Results by school, district, county and region will be shared with the Illinois Department of Public Health in order that areas of greatest need may be identified and appropriate services can be provided.

"Our report of Oct. 15, 1981, showed 425 students were not in full compliance and nine students had not received physical exams."

"Our March 31, 1982, update shows 236 not in full compliance, with none failing to receive physical exams."

"Reasons why 236 are still not in total compliance include such factors as— 'Student needs one booster.' 'Doctor placed no dates on the physical exam form.' 'Parent notified but has not responded with complete dates.' 'Student referred to clinic but unable to go.' 'Not student; the records have not been received from the previous school.' 'Doctor declined to give booster at this time.' Those not in full compliance currently total 69 at South, 33 at North, 29 at Logan, 22 at Emerson, 19 at Prather, 16 at Nameoki, 15 at Johnson, 12 at Marshall, 10 at Lake, five at Wilson, four at Mitchell and two students at Frohardt."

David Femrite, executive director of the "Y"; Elizabeth McCoy, treasurer; Viola Skaggs, vice-president, and Kathryn Todoroff. The sustaining fund aids in financing youth memberships for underprivileged children.

Judges teach trial skills

By MICK STRANGE
of the Press-Record

Eight advanced law students from St. Louis University (SLU) who are students of Third Judicial Circuit Judge Charles W. Chapman participated in a series of mock murder trials at the Madison County Courthouse in Edwardsville.

Assisting Judge Chapman were Associate Circuit Judge Johnathan Isbell, Circuit Judge Philip J. Rarick and Associate Judges Thomas E. Hildebrand and P. J. O'Neill.

The course is intended to develop trial skills and to offer the law students an opportunity to participate in direct and cross-examination of witnesses, the identification and admission of exhibits and the planning and delivery of opening and closing statements.

"These courses have been offered by law schools of recent years so that the students are better prepared for actual courtroom work," Judge Chapman said.

Chapman was appointed adjunct professor of law at St. Louis University Law School for the spring semester for the purpose of teaching one of the small groups.

Freighters busy

Italy's merchant fleet carries a million tons of goods annually between the United States and Italy.

The bulk of the freight is handled by three lines: Ital-ia, Costa and d'Amico.

The other judges volunteered their services for the exercise, held on a Saturday morning, when the courthouse was closed, in an effort to develop better attorneys to serve the public, according to Judge Chapman.

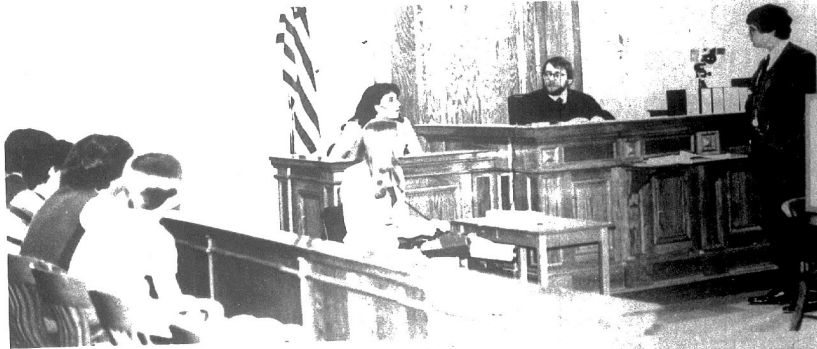

Saturday's mock murder trial was based on an actual case where an owner of a truck stop shot and killed his estranged girlfriend. Although the judge was a real judge, the defendants, attorneys, and others were law students from SLU.

The trial was "as real" as they could make it, with some charging the defendant Johnny Diamond (a made up name) with deliberately murdering his girlfriend, and Diamond and some witness claiming he was innocent and that is actually was an accidental death.

The law students used some rather unusual and unique defense methods which were "really rather clever," Judge Chapman said.

The trial was conducted four times, with different juries. The defendant, Diamond, was acquitted three times and convicted by one jury of involuntary manslaughter.

Most of the jurors were furnished by participating students who "drafted" family members and friends. Four volunteers were from Edwardsville High School and seemed to enjoy the exercise, according to Judge Chapman.

MOCK MURDER TRIAL. A mock murder trial, based on a real case, was the culmination of a St. Louis University Law School course in Trial Advocacy for second and third year law students of Circuit Judge Charles W. Chapman. Law Student Bradley Hunt, standing at the right, is examining a witness, who allegedly was a waitress in a cafe in which a shooting took place. The judge seated behind the bench is Third Judicial Circuit Associate Judge Johnathan Isbell. The jurors at the left are high school students and the court reporter and witness are both law students. The jurors returned a verdict of guilty, as happened in the actual trial the case was based on, without their knowledge of the previous verdict. Four judges assisted Judge Chapman in the mock trial last weekend.

Circuit Judge Charles W. Chapman, an Adjunct Professor of Law at St. Louis University, Associate Judge Johnathan Isbell, Circuit Judge Philip J. Rarick, Associate Judge Thomas E. Hildebrand and Circuit Judge P. J. O'Neill.

Higher fines could aid attorney

By JIM SCHLUETER

Using more fines as punishment for convicted criminals is one way the county can battle its impending financial crunch, according to Madison County State's attorney Don Weber.

"There's nothing wrong with the guilty paying for the system," Weber said. "In most cases they can pay, and asking a felon to pay a $1,000 or $2,000 fine could offset some costs."

ZONING HEARING SET

The Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals will hold an on-site public zoning hearing at Old Alton Road and Old Route 66, the frontage road for Interstate 270, at 11:15 a.m. Thursday, May 6, where Floyd Foreman Jr. and James D. Podner wish to rezone 24 acres from R-3 single-family residential to R-4, for mobile and modular home dwelling. The property is in Chouteau Township. The board then will make recommendations to the Madison County Board, which must grant or deny the rezoning request.

Weber gave this suggestion to the county's finance committee Monday. The committee is currently meeting with elected officials to get their suggestions on cutting county departmental budgets by 12 percent in 1983.

"We'll need the cooperation of the judges, but we should make the felon pay, especially after they drag a case through spurious motions and two or three juries," Weber said.

Weber said any slashes in his budget could mean personnel cuts.

"When you're talking about budget cuts, to me you're talking about personnel," Weber said. "If the county thinks that's what should happen, that's what we'll do."

Weber noted that when he was street commissioner on the Collinsville City Council, he "customarily" didn't spend as much as he could. But he thought prosecution of criminals was a different matter.

"As far as cuts in personnel, we have two people in mid-level positions now and a new domestic grievance office," Weber said. "But I don't think the people want cuts in law enforcement."

Another area that might be cut is an $8,000 line item for contractual professional services. Weber described it as a contingency fund to be used when experts are needed in court cases.

"We're currently working on a murder case that's going to involve an exhumation, and an expert there is already going to cost us $5,000," Weber said. Weber noted the fund has led to several convictions in the past.

A new class of Presidential Scholars, including two from Granite City, has been named at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

President Earl Lazerson announced the names of 20 persons who are the 1982 winners of the prestigious four-year scholarships.

Selected on the basis of their previous academic work and special talents and abilities, the award winners will receive monetary assistance, special academic status and individualized educational opportunities.

The winners include Pamela L. Rowden and Kimberly S. Woodward, both of Granite City High School North.

The scholars will be welcome to campus at a get-acquainted luncheon with the president and the students' mentors on May 26 at the University Center, according to Ruges R. Freeman, director of the Teachers Corps Project at SIUE and chairman of the Presidential Scholars Committee.

The scholars also are expected to receive special recognition at their high school commencement programs, Freeman said.

Twenty finalists and 10 alternates were selected by the committee from 44 semi-finalists on the basis of interviews and campus visits.

Mini Career Fair at South

PEOPLE

More than 600 students at Granite City High School South spent all or part of their lunch and study periods one day last week talking with representatives of several professions and trades who are employed in non-traditional career roles.

The occasion was a "Mini-Career Fair," focusing on jobs available in careers not typically held by the individual representative, but which are becoming more open to future job opportunities.

Women who are pilots, welders, police officers, general news reporters and ministers and men who are nurses, telephone operators and food specialists were among those invited to take part in the career event.

The U.S. Army and the U.S. Air Force were represented and offered the students a glimpse into the wide variety of interchangeable roles, now a standard practice in the military services.

Two attractive young women, Rosalie Huebner, a detective, and Sherry L. Fleming, a street officer in the patrol section, represented the Madison County Sheriff's Department and drew a crowd of students, all interested in their work as law enforcement officers.

years ago as a nurse, became a private pilot and later went on to take USAF pilot's training when the program was opened up to women in the service.

Arthur Santoyo, a registered nurse from St. Elizabeth Medical Center, and Air Force Captain Peter Jefferson, also an RN and a flight nurse in the service, attracted an audience of young people.

Among the others participating were: Bill Mason and Margaret Keeton from Illinois Bell; Tina Thomas and Barbara Williams, Thomas Mortuaries; the Rev. Charlotte Zachary, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church of Madison; Doris Wright, a welder; Shirley Fountain, a real estate salesman; USAF Sergeant Deborah Houghtlin, a mechanic and aircraft squadron crew chief from Scott AFB; Valerie Evenden, reporter-editor, Granite City Press-Record; Staff Sergeant William G. Houghton, U.S. Army recruiter.

News notes

Issuing a report several days before the expected fiscal report of Comptroller Roland Burris, a Democrat, Governor James R. Thompson, a Republican, noted Friday that—after ten months of the 1981-82 year—state spending is $15 million below the ten-month spending level of last year. The administration has assailed some of Burris' past financial interpretations as partisan. The Thompson report lists expenditures of $6,834,000,000, with a balance of $142 million on April 30. Thompson does not mention it, but income has totaled only $6,781,000,000, a Burris aide says.

Seeking a third term, Gov. Thompson is continuing to announce endorsements by various labor groups in Illinois. His latest list includes Jerry Wray, business manager of Operating Engineers Local 520, Mitchell. A Thompson aide apologized Friday for previously listing Operating Engineers Local 525, Wood River, which not only has not endorsed Thompson but may back his Nov. 2 opponent, Democrat Adlai Stevenson.

Students at most private colleges in 1982-83 can qualify for government-guaranteed loans if their families earn $40,000 a year or less. New regulations were issued Sunday by the U.S. Education Department. The College Board estimates it costs an average of $6,885 annually to attend a private four-year college and $3,873 a year to go to a public college.

Joe E. Lucio, who formerly represented the Quad-Cities in the Illinois House of Representatives, was promoted on his 70th birthday Friday by a House resolution. The Edwardsville Democrat, a former teacher and coach, is an aide to House Minority Leader Michael Madigan.

Faculty layoffs are being considered at SIUE, where a $1.1 million cut in funds is projected for the 1982-83 year.

The governor has asked about 60,000 state employees to give up $32 million in eight percent wage hikes set for July 1. The American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, representing 40,000 of them, is declining to reopen contract talks in the middle of a two-year agreement.

SIUE presidential scholars include two GCIS North students, Pamela L. Rowden and Kimberly S. Woodward.

Noting that Chief Circuit Judge Joseph Barr on Wednesday denied State's Attorney Don Weber's motion for an extension of the four-month term of a grand jury that has been investigating drug abuse in high schools, the grand jury appealed Thursday for reconsideration of the ruling. Jurors said their investigation is "extremely important, and valuable time will be lost familiarizing a new grand jury with the information already received." Weber plans to fight the termination through higher courts. Barr on Thursday night still felt an extension is unnecessary and said it would inconvenience citizens by retaining their services for eight months instead of four.

Girl Scout volunteers unhappy with a River Bluffs Council decision to build a $200,000 office at Ginger Creek south of Edwardsville—rejected nominating committee recommendations and instead elected Mrs. Marty Nelson of Godfrey as president and Mrs. JoAnne Lenz of Alton as vice-president of community relations last week. The building committee will meet with volunteers at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday at the council headquarters to explain its reasons for recommending the new structure.

Arrest GC woman in nightclub raid

Neva Powderly, 23, of the 1800 block of Delmar Ave., was among 11 dancers arrested for allegedly dancing nude at Art Mowe's Night Club in Washington Park, Ill., Friday night.

Officers of the Illinois Division of Criminal Investigation conducted a raid on the club and arrested the owner, Art Mowe, 51, Caseyville, and the 11 dancers, sources stated.

The 11 women dancers allegedly were performing totally nude, in violation of Illinois law which allows only topless dancing. The club was described as an upstairs "private key club" over the regular bar.

Dancers arrested, besides Mrs. Powderly, were Kathleen A. Creighton, 22, University City, Mo., Donna Gambler, 20, and Melanie Miller, 19, both of Spanish Lake, Mo., Mona Higgins, 31, St. Louis, Nancy Sue Hill, 20, and Cindy Stout, 24, both of Collinsville, Patricia Lake, 19, St. Louis, Brenda Sue Nichols, 21, Cahokia, Karen Powell, 21, Mascoutah, and Hazel Taylor, 18, East St. Louis.

Mowe was charged with presenting an obscene performance and the women were charged with obscene dancing. The misdemeanor charges are punishable by up to one year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

Two youths tour Europe

Two Granite City High School South seniors, Ellen Range and Kenneth McManus, spent a week touring London, England, and Paris, France, during their recent spring break. Miss Range and McManus were part of a student travel unit known as the American Leadership Study Group, which offered chaperones and tour-guided travel to various countries. The two students toured with 12 other students under the direction of Dr. Fetterer, a French teacher in Kankakee, Ill. Leaving from O'Hare Airport, they spent the first three days touring, basically, the London area. Places visited included Westminster Abbey, Buckingham Palace and the famous Piccadilly Square. From London, the group traveled by ferry through the English Channel to Paris, where they spent the final four days. In Paris they visited the Eiffel Tower, the Notre Dame Cathedral, the Arc de Triomphe and the Palace at Versailles. The tour group had a courier who was well acquainted with the local sights. The student itinerary permitted some free time for optional field trips and sightseeing. The two local students traveled with youth from California, Indiana and Ohio. Miss Range and McManus expressed real satisfaction with their week's stay abroad, regarding it as an opportunity for European study, with mini-courses in history, literature and art.

6-week summer tuition classes

Granite City schools are continuing to offer summer classes on the basis of charging students to offset the cost. At one time, a massive summer program was operated here, with no fees or only minimal charges. But legislation and court rulings now limit the June and July offerings to a "pay as you go" self-sustaining approach. Instruction beginning June 7, 1982, is to last for six weeks. The school district will offer—High school credit courses on a tuition basis ($37 per course).—High school, elementary and junior high band on a tuition basis ($12 per student).—Special education on a limited basis (reimbursed by the state).—A vocational cosmetology program (reimbursed by the state, plus a $15 fee per student).—And a program for gifted students in the first grade through eighth grade on a tuition basis ($40 per student includes tuition and materials).

Police route 100 youths from streets

Venice and Madison police departments were both needed at 12:25 a.m. Sunday to disperse a large crowd of teenagers causing a disturbance in front of the Venice Police Station. The youths apparently left a dance at the Venice Recreation Hall and were on their way home when police became involved. According to Venice officers dispatched to the scene, more than 100 youths were yelling and throwing bottles. Some were allegedly fighting. After officers arrived and advanced toward the crowd, the youths moved down Klein Street toward Bissell Avenue. Madison police officers were then called in to assist in moving the crowd down the street. Traffic was blocked at the time, due to the crowd walking in the street. According to Venice officers, after numerous attempts to get the youths out of the street, Venice and Madison police formed a line of squad cars to move the crowd. Youths allegedly threw rocks at the squad cars and several youths tried to get into the cars, while officers attempted to control the crowd. The group finally began to break up at Leo Wright Homes, according to officers. Officers had to remain on the scene for some time to disperse groups remaining in the area.

Mr. Twist hit, worker injured

An employee of Mr. Twist, 2449 Madison Ave., was injured 4:30 p.m. Friday when a car stuck the side of the building. Employee Sharon Ferris, 26, of 2203 Ohio Ave., was hit by debris from the building and was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center as a result of the accident. She was treated and released. Earl Thomas, 26, of 2903 Iowa St., was charged with failing to yield the right-of-way when attempting a left turn from Madison Avenue to 27th Street. Thomas had apparently stopped at the traffic light on Madison Avenue, then proceeded to turn left, striking the vehicle of Rodney J. Howlett, 31, Edwardsville. Howlett's car went forward, striking the building. He was admitted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center complaining of dizziness and later was released. The northeast wall and window of the Mr. Twist building were damaged, as well as equipment inside the building. The cost to repair the damage was not immediately known. Mary Urloste, owner, said the damage was extensive.

FAILURE TO APPEAR

Robert L. Bruzualis, 25, of 4028 Gaullig Walk, was arrested at 4:10 p.m. Friday on a warrant for failure to appear in court on an earlier alleged speeding charge. Bruzualis was taken to the police station and later released on $101 cash bail.

WE'LL TAKE CARE OF YOUR CAR UNTIL 1987!

Chrysler LeBaron Convertible

DEAR NEW CAR BUYER:

There have been many good opportunities to buy new cars in the past couple of years — but the 3-WAY PROTECTION PLAN offered by Chrysler Corporation through May 31st is the most solid expression of confidence and value that I've ever seen. Chrysler will furnish you with a 5 YR./50,000 MI. power train protection plan FREE OF CHARGE, and a 5 YR./50,000 MI. protection plan against outer-panel rust through. In addition, you may bring your new car to our dealership for the next five years, until 1987, and we will perform all scheduled maintenance on the vehicle without charge to you. Come in and we'll furnish you with the terms and conditions in writing.

Here at Granite Chrysler, we've got the qualified personnel to serve you — Nick Hunkin in charge of sales, Phil Rabbato in service, and Clyde Murphy in parts. We've got 30 years experience in the markets and the BEST QUALITY cars. I've ever seen.

Get your new Chrysler or Plymouth from us and we'll take care of it for the next five years.

Sincerely,
H. J. "Mac" Mason
President, Granite Chrysler-Plymouth, Inc.

Parents, schools need to teach children to think, Browder says

William Browder, chairman of the Illinois Board of Higher Education, is concerned as to whether America's educational institutions are teaching people how to live and grow together as members of society or if they are responding primarily to the demands of students who want to get ahead of their fellowmen.

Addressing a group of administrators, staff and faculty being honored at the 12th annual awards banquet at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville last week, Browder said, "I am for self-improvement. I think we all want to encourage people to improve themselves. But I think it is important to examine the educational process to see how education should deal with the matter of private interests versus public interests."

Browder wonders if students are lining up for courses in science, technology, and business so they can get a larger share of the "goodies of life" for themselves, or if there is some motivation grounded in the recognition of the public welfare.

If higher education concentrates its efforts to deliver education in the technical and business areas, Browder asked, will this have a detrimental impact upon its delivery of education in the fields of English, history, philosophy, and other liberal arts courses?

"It appears that students today want fast technical and business information and training so they will be better equipped for better jobs immediately," he said. "Higher education for the purpose of promoting culture, for simply improving the quality of life, is definitely taking a secondary role."

The IBHE chairman suggested that today's members of society are, in many ways, deepening their private lives and withdrawing from public life. "And in doing so, we are paying a price. That price is the weakening of our basic institutions," Browder said, adding that it is also weakening America's political, economic and social freedoms.

"Without a public which knows that it shares a common life, which is capable of free thinking, debating, and deciding, government can easily move into the realm of autocratic power," Browder said. "Public life holds government accountable to what the people want. Without it, government becomes the property of those who govern."

As times grow difficult, Browder said people are tempted to withdraw and seek the comfort and security of their own privacy. "But this is illusory at best and destructive at worst. We need each other. A full social life is stimulating and fulfilling." He continued:

"One of the chief characteristics of our time is the dual nature of change. First, there is a tremendous amount of change—every phase of life is affected, from our religious institutions to our interest rates. Second, there is tremendous rapidity of change—evolution seems to have been replaced by revolution. As a result, the breathtaking changes in the sexual code and increased interest in computer games in this country.

"If we can't learn to cope and accommodate change,

WILLIAM BROWDER, chairman of the Illinois Board of Higher Education, addresses a group of administrators, faculty and staff members at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville during the 12th annual awards banquet.

we will fall, helpless, by the wayside. We need the nurturing of our families and intimate friends. We need the restoration and refreshment that comes from seeking privacy from time to time in the midst of the public life," Browder said, adding that people also need the inspiration, expansion, and interaction which comes from contacts with people in the community.

"We need all of this for our own best interests, and we need it to preserve and promote a better society in which to live," Browder said. "I think it is education's job, not just higher education, not just secondary education, but also primary education, to keep the minds of children, youth, and adults fresh and productive—to keep their minds tingling with ideas and insights, so they will not be numbed by mass culture of any nature," he concluded.

SUUE honors five from here

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville honored 176 employees at the university's 12th annual awards and retirement banquet last week.

Entertainment included musical selections from Broadway, under the direction of Stephen Brown, associate professor in the School of Fine Arts and Communications. Russ Sparger, a student from Belleville, provided dinner music.

Keynote speaker was William Browder, chairman of the Illinois Board of Higher Education. University employees who were honored during the evening included:

Governor, State BOE disagree on budget

Springfield — After assessing the impact of Governor Thompson's recommended budget levels for elementary and secondary education, the Illinois State Board of Education reaffirmed support Thursday for its own budget proposal.

At the request of the Governor, the board used his recommended budget of $2.1 billion in state funds for fiscal year 1983 to calculate an estimated allocation level.

State Board Chairman Edward Copeland stressed that the board is not endorsing or accepting the Governor's recommendations or the estimated allocation.

"The Governor's budget proposal is unacceptable to the state board," Copeland said. "We have recommended a budget of $2.21 billion even though we estimate it would take over $2.35 billion in state funds to realistically meet the schools' needs. Our proposal already calls for a bare-bones level which recognizes the current fiscal constraints of the state."

"We are sending this allocation to the General Assembly at the Governor's request, but we must point out the severe hardships that would be placed upon school districts if higher appropriations are not approved," he said. "The school children of this state should not be asked to bear such a heavy portion of the burden of diminished state resources."

The Board's budget, as adopted in March, called for funding most statutory formula categorical programs, such as special education programs, at 90 percent.

The per pupil support level in general state aid, under the Board's budget, would increase by approximately $25 (7.3 percent) over FY '82, to $1,655.

The allocation of the Governor's recommendation would provide only 85 percent reimbursement for most of the statutory formula categorical programs and increase the per pupil support level by about $73 (4.7 percent), to $1,655.

In addition, the allocation would reduce the textbook program by 50 percent—$5.5 million—over FY '82 appropriations.

Both the state board's budget and the allocation under the Governor's budget would provide for full funding of the two orphanage programs, a 96 percent reimbursement for regular vocational transportation, restoration of $600,000 to bilingual programs to bring them to the FY '81 level, retention of $1 million for desegregation assistance and $300,000 for drug-alcohol abuse programs, and retirement funding at 70 percent of the payroll level—an increase over FY '82's 62.5 percent.

In other action Thursday, the board adopted a position that any additional revenue available for elementary and secondary education in FY '83, as a result of new taxes, be allocated to general state aid.

Park's Open House slated for May 9

Aerobic flights, parachute jumps and a hot air balloon ascension will be featured Sunday, May 9 at the 55th Annual Open House at Parks College of Saint Louis University in Cahokia.

The event will be held from 12 noon to 5 p.m. on the college campus, at the intersection of Illinois Routes 3 and 157, just three miles from the Gateway Arch. It is free to the public.

Many antique and experimental aircraft will be on static display. There will also be a student project competition, aviation-related display and campus tours throughout the day.

Parks College was founded in 1927, just two months after Lindbergh's historic flight, by Oliver L. Parks. The College holds Air Agency Certificate No. 1, as the first aviation school in the country. Since 1946 it has been a part of St. Louis University and today offers bachelor's and associate's degrees in seven aviation-related fields, and airframe and powerplant certificates. Owners of small aircraft are invited to fly in for Open House. Additional information may be obtained from the Public Relations Office, Parks College of St. Louis University, Cahokia, Illinois 62206.

National Pride gets an award from G.E.

Before General Electric can bring good things to life, suppliers have to bring good materials to General Electric.

That's precisely what the people at National's Granite City Steel Division did. And that's why G.E. named our entire Granite City Steel Division "Key Supplier."

G.E.'s Tyler, Texas plant needed smooth-coated, flat-shaped, good-ductility steel for central air conditioners and heat pumps. So our Granite City people started with a fine quality coil, then finished it off on the No. 6 galvanizing line. They were backed up by the North Plant maintenance crews who keep the galvanizing line in top shape; the Department of Metallurgy and Inspection who keep a close eye on quality; Production Control employees who schedule production, and our shipping people who always handle our product with care...monitored by supervision in all these areas. The group pictured near the No. 6 line is a small representative portion of the people involved at GCS.

The pride they felt in their work showed up strong enough to earn a special recognition plaque from G.E. (Shown at center).

We've been saying that National quality comes from National Pride. But this award makes us even prouder.

Because this time, our customer said it.

'Herbie' flies again

By NANCY ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Things can go wrong at the Watergate. Just ask G. Gordon Liddy.

During an interview there with Dean Jones and Patricia Harty, stars of the new, limited CBS series, "Herbie, the Love Bug," a battery in a tape recorder literally exploded with a frightening, sizzling sound which continued and continued.

Like a chicken twitching and thrashing after its head has been cut off, the battery, even out of the recorder and lying on a table went on spewing and jerking and making a threatening noise.

However neither Pat nor Dean seemed in the least unmoved by the oddity.

"Herbie, the Love Bug," an inevitable progression from the "Herbie" movies which were so successful they were certain to reproduce on television, made its debut March 17 for a limited run which could be continued should it find a considerable audience.

Jones is optimistic, since, he said, when the original "Love Bug" film was rereleased in Europe last summer, it gathered an audience 60 percent as large as the one it attracted first time around.

He's also optimistic, because he thinks, the operational word in the title is "love," a commodity with its own appeal.

In the series, Jim Douglas, Jones character, loves Susan, Harty's character; while Herbie, according to Dean, is "a loyal, little personality who'd give his metallic life for his friends."

Dean gave his first professional performance as a singer when he was in his teens and worked one summer in a club in New Orleans.

He was still singing more than acting when he was discovered for movies, and he sings the title song for television's "Love Bug."

However, he says this doesn't mean he's going to revert to more regular warbling or that he's going after a recording contract.

He has enough to do otherwise.

For one thing, he's writing his autobiography, which emphasizes how his life changed after he committed it to Christ. The book will be called "Out of Darkness."

Dean is also very active involved in famine relief in the interest of which he not only gives money but time spent in visiting stricken areas.

William Yates, producer of the new "Herbie" series has had a career which began with journalism, took him through law and finally into electronic entertainment.

A graduate of the University of Illinois with a degree in journalism, he was a reporter on the The New York Daily News and then a California-based television publicist. After that, he graduated from Columbia Law School and passed the bar.

However, he didn't practice his new trade immediately but instead went to work as story editor for "Camera Three" and "Studio One." In time, he became director of program development for ABC-TV in New York.

After producing an experimental program, "Repertoire Workshop," Yates decided that he liked law better than television and joined the Los Angeles city attorney's office prosecuting misdemeanors.

Yet he didn't find this very fulfilling either, so he went back to television.

"Sure," says Yates, "I sometimes read about a case that makes me think I'd like to practice law again, but you know how the grass is always greener."

Ironically, he tangled with another lawyer over a technicality while he was executive story editor for "Streets of San Francisco."

John Kerr, after starring on Broadway, in films and on television, became a lawyer but, nonetheless took a guest role in Quinn Martin's cop show.

As a lawyer, he objected to some line or piece of business in the series, "And," Yates says, "he was right, and his objection was sustained."

Constance Towers, a star of the new daytime drama, "Capitol," remembers as one of her most unlikely evenings the night she and Yul Brynner gave their 500th performance. Richard Rodgers was at the theater, came backstage before the curtain went up and embraced Towers.

"I got ready to sing my first song," she laughs, "beginning 'whenever I feel afraid I sing a happy tune,' and when I got the word, 'tune,' I forgot the lyrics completely. I couldn't even remember the final word of the first line."

Shebelle she muddled through.

Busy days ahead for Harrison

By ALAN L. GANSBERG

HOLLYWOOD — GREGORY HARRISON won't be taking it easy once his "Trapper John, M.D." series finishes production for this season. He's joined the ranks of actors-turned-producers and has signed a deal with Warner Bros. TV to produce movies through the studio. He'll be setting up his office any day.

The pact calls for Harrison to star in some of the projects and just oversee others with his partners. The good news first: NBC has tagged him to star in "Safari," a TV movie that the network says is "heavy action-adventure." It will air next season.

Meanwhile, Harrison is starting in the Los Angeles stage production of "The Hasty Heart," with KURT RUSSELL and LISA EICHORN, which he also produced.

And Harrison continues to guard his privacy when it concerns his relationship with RANDI OAKES, who can still be seen on "CHiPs." They are sharing a house, but marriage plans are not necessarily forthcoming.

An interesting footnote to Harrison's success story is the result of ratings research done by CBS. It seems the network survey revealed that women watch "Trapper John" essentially to see Harrison.

That's not much of a secret. But, the study also shows that if Gregory takes his shirt off within the first three minutes the ratings skyrocket. If not, the viewers turn away.

It's no wonder he was tagged to star in "For Ladies Only" this season. Still, it doesn't do much for the memory of all those hours spent taking acting lessons.

The time at the gym was far more beneficial.

Sometimes TV does not imitate life. TYNE DALY, who stars as a cop on "Cagney & Lacey," arrived home from the set one day recently to discover that her home and car had been burglarized. Not only is she playing a copy now, but hubby GEORGE STANFORD BROWN played one on "The Rockies," a few years back.

JANE WITHERS' career in front of the cameras has long since ended for the most part, but she's still active and revered in Hollywood because of the extensive collection of movie-land memorabilia she owns. So extensive, in fact, that she rents several warehouses to keep it all in. Problems have developed, though. She's been told to vacate one of the nine warehouses because the building has been sold for development. Reportedly, she's making room in her basement right now.

Although he's been concentrating on his other interests lately, MICHAEL DOUGLAS is still a name to be reckoned with in front of the cameras, and his fans will get to see him in two films next year, "Star Chamber" and "Star Man." Does there seem to be a similarity in those titles?

Hoping to make another try at series is BUDDY EBSEN, who has two of the most successful shows of all time under his belt — "Barnaby Jones" and "The Beverly Hillbillies." Buddy is telling friends that he wants a chance to dance in front of the cameras again — who can forget him with SHIRLEY TEMPLE. The idea that's being worked on for Ebsen is the continuing story of a song-and-dance man, although retired.

The filming of the series "M-A-S-H" will end for good by mid-fall, with episodes to run probably until February 1983 on CBS. ALAN ALDA is already preparing his future, writing a comedy feature that he plans to shoot sometime in 1983, probably March or April.

LORETTA SWIT will move into a series of her own with ABC once "M-A-S-H" is completed. She's had a deal with the network for her own show for some years, but until "M-A-S-H" announced it was ending there was nothing anyone could do about it.

JANE FONDA was recently given an award by Hollywood publicists for her work in motion pictures. The award was presented by JACK LEMMON, who starred with Fonda in "The China Syndrome." Fonda later revealed that when she was 16 she had a desperate crush on Lemmon.

For you fans of "The Dukes of Hazzard" There's an album just released on the market with the theme song and other favorites from the series, just in case you need a Hazzard fix from Friday to Friday.

New role fell in Lynn's lap

By NANCY ANDERSON

HOLLYWOOD — Things fell nicely into place for Lynn Redgrave.

She'd scarcely cut connections with a TV series we won't mention, since her parting from it wasn't pleasant, when she was offered a starring role in "Teachers Only," a weekly NBC comedy, first seen April 14.

"I didn't have to shop for this at all," says Redgrave. "Almost as soon as I became available the show was offered to me."

Oh, yes, she says, she was offered other things as well, shows about women detectives, lawyers, doctors, you name it.

But of the possibilities, she felt that playing an English, English teacher was the most attractive. In other words, she like the prospect of playing an English woman who teaches English, a rather foreign language, in an American school.

Though two new series, "Teachers Only" and "Making the Grade" on CBS are about teachers and high schools, the two aren't much alike.

"Making the Grade" is filmed without a live audience. "Teachers Only" has one.

Next difference: "Making the Grade" is set in an inner-city high school filled with discipline problems and students of questionable intellect.

The school in "Teachers Only" is suburban with the titles shot at Burbank High; though other scenes are shot in a studio.

Finally, "Making the Grade" is an ensemble piece without real stars. Some of the players may become stars because of the show, but none was internationally (or even nationally) known when the series was cast.

Redgrave, by contrast, not only comes from a family distinguished in the theater but has been an Oscar nominee and star of various vehicles.

Her colleagues in "Teachers Only," Norman Fell and Adam Arkin, are also known to the public.

To prepare for her current role, Redgrave claims to have loitered in school halls "a couple of times" and visited with some English teachers.

"Education is more imaginative now than it was when I was in school," she believes, convinced that teachers even more than students are exercising their imaginations.

Redgrave has played everything from royalty to a hooker, and, of these two extremes, she found playing a hooker the more rewarding.

"It's hard to compare, but it's usually more interesting to play someone who's a little naughty," she thinks.

Unfortunately, "naughty" doesn't describe "Diana," her character in "Teachers Only."

But Lynn believes she's interesting anyway.

In Bob Conrad's case, signing for "Wrong is Right" was like firing a shot in the dark.

He had nothing to guide him but instinct.

When Conrad agreed to join the cast of Richard Brooks' new film for Columbia, he'd not only never seen the script, he'd neither read nor heard a line he'd be expected to deliver nor had he been presented with a full description of the character he'd have to play.

"Two words made me want to do this," Conrad says. "Richard Brooks."

"After sitting in a theater and watching Robert Blake give that performance in 'In Cold Blood,' after seeing the macho movie of all time, 'The Professionals,' when Burt Lancaster gave his greatest performance prior to 'Atlantic City,' and 'Elmer Gantry,' when Diane Keaton was given her chance to be a star before she'd been featured in any national periodical, I said Richard Brooks is a man I'd like to work for."

Nevertheless, when Brooks sent for Conrad to discuss "Wrong is Right" and told him he couldn't see a script, Bob was at least surprised.

Normally he doesn't work that way.

"Well," he said at last, submissively, "can you at least describe the character I'll play?"

"You'll play a general who believes in his country right or wrong," said Brooks, an ex-Marine.

"That's me," Bob reacted ungrammatically. "Let's do it."

So potent is Brooks' reputation that, when he went to Frank Price at Columbia Pictures with the "Wrong is Right" script he'd written, he sold the project without specifying who'd be in the picture and without allowing the studio executive to take the script home to digest.

"You'll have to read it in the office or I'll read it to you," Brooks said.

Conrad played Gen. Wombat whose name suggests he's your stock movie figure, the insane military leader bent on bloodshed.

"But he wasn't crazy," Conrad contends. "Everything he said made sense. I never went for a laugh."
